Confined Space Training

Building a Safer Industry Today!

Every employee working in and around a confined space needs to understand the hazards that may be found inside. A confined space is defined as an area that is big enough to permit a person to enter, has limited means of entrance and exit and is not designed for human occupancy.

OSHA FACTS:

More than 13,000 US workers are injured annually in confined space accidents. 5,000 of those are serious injuries. About 60 will die.

DO NOT RISK YOUR WORKERS' LIVES!

Send them to this training.

TOPICS TO BE COVERED:

- The Nature of and Hazards of Confined Spaces
- Regulatory Requirements for Confined Spaces
- The Authorized Entrant's Duties
- The Attendant's Duties
- The Entry Supervisor's Duties
