

Central California Builders Exchange would like to invite you to . . .

Intro to BIM

The Technology that is Changing the Construction Industry

BIM is here in Central California, right now. Come learn about local projects that are using BIM and why!

- What is BIM (Building Information Modeling)?
- Why is BIM important to the construction industry?
- How is BIM used on projects?
- Why BIM is important to contractors and subcontractors
- How BIM can save you money
- What types of projects are using BIM today?
- What BIM training and software is available to use?

The time is now, don't miss this very informative forum in which you will hear from contractors using BIM not the software companies trying to sell their product.
